

Skill builder — Drawing a model

Draw part of a person modelling and the background behind them.

Don't worry—you do not have to draw all of the model. That is not important. You make choose to focus on their head, their feet, how their legs cross, how they cross their arms, or whatever you like.

The goal is to draw both the foreground and the background, and use the tricks of contrast, detail, and size to create depth.
